

Montgomery County's Newest Master Plans

Germantown, White Flint and Great Seneca Science Corridor

Join a distinguished panel of speakers who will outline the recommendations and implementation strategies of the Germantown Sector Plan, White Flint Sector Plan and the Great Seneca Science Corridor Master Plan, all adopted in 2010. Each plan focuses on a different element of Montgomery County's demographics and geography, yet each encourages "smart growth" by focusing on redevelopment and reuse of existing sites. The panelists will present an overview of each plan individually and how each fits into the greater changes coming to the County.

Our Panel:

Nicole Totah, Symmetry
Germantown Employment Area Sector Plan

Erica Leatham, Ballard Spahr LLP
White Flint Sector Plan

Jennifer Russel, Rodgers Consulting, Inc.
Great Seneca Science Corridor Master Plan

What do these plans mean for YOU and how will their staging components affect the ability of property owners to move forward? Don't miss it!

The Community Service Committee of CREW Maryland Suburban will be collecting school supplies for the children at the National Center for Children and Families in Bethesda, Maryland. Please bring any of the following school supplies to our September Event and place them in our drop box.
